ABOUT ECW PRESS

ECW Press is a proudly independent company that has been publishing a diverse list of great books for more than 40 years. Whether you are looking to build brand identity for your organization, relay your company's history, or celebrate an anniversary or other significant event, ECW can produce an appropriate, high-quality book in full cooperation with your organization.

We've worked with many schools, capturing their history in commemorative books. We've also produced books for sports organizations, corporations, companies within the finance sector, and individuals seeking profile and branding within their business. In some cases, these books may hold appeal for the general public. We explore these opportunities, and if there is a market this can provide excellent exposure for an organization.
