

“One of the most important books of our time.”

Jane Fonda,
actor and activist

Earth for Sale, the latest book by renowned activist Maude Barlow, is an urgent warning about dangers of the financialization of nature and the quiet rise of corporate control over the planet’s resources.

Death, Disability, and the Search for Justice for Guy Mitchell

When a man in care dies under terrible conditions, who is responsible? Blame is a gripping true story, a powerful indictment of a broken system, and a reminder that the duty to care for society’s most vulnerable ultimately lies with us all.
